Product description

Energy is not only performance in terms of fat and carbohydrates but especially in terms of vitality. So Fit-BARF Vital consists for a significant part of seedlings of wheat, which are produced by a specially gentle process under 40°C. The seedlings of wheat are the germinating vital force from the wheat and provide the body with an enormous bio-energetic force. This is helpful for the whole immune system, constitution and of course the strengthening of the body. It strengthens, moreover, the resources of the body during higher load. Furthermore, Fit BARF Vital contains a specially high part of natural folic acid and thus it is significant for young animals or lactating female dogs.
